The One Law for All Passion For Freedom Art Exhibition.

This exhibition is a powerful and audible voice in a long term debate on human rights. The artistic expression has been perceived as a direct tool in circumstances when other means of expression have failed.

In the First Stage of the competition the shortlisted artists have been invited to exhibit their works. In the Second Stage the artworks will be viewed by the panel of judges who will select three exceptional works based on their artistic quality and subject relevance.

The authoritative and prominent judges are:

A C Grayling (Professor of Philosophy at Birkbeck College, University of London),
Polly Toynbee (columnist for the Guardian),
Deeyah (Pakistani-Norwegian singer, composer and human rights activist).

Passion For Freedom Art Exhibition will take place at the Unitz4 Gallery in London between 20-27 November 2010. The Gallery has a prestigious location at Bankside near Tate Modern. There will be a Private View on November 20, 6.30-9.30pm.

All selected works will remain on the One Law for All Art Exhibition website for the period of one year. The work shown in the image must be available, if shortlisted, for the exhibition. The artwork must be the same as the one presented to the jury.

Insurance: The organizers do not take any responsibility for the artworks. Artists are encouraged to consider insurance.

Transport: Artists must ensure that the works are delivered to the specified storage place (details below) by 1 November 2010, and cover any delivery costs to London, UK and back. The organizers take responsibility to deliver the artworks to and from the gallery back to the storage place.

Artists are obliged to provide the following information to the organizers:

- the artwork's dimension (height, depth, length) and;
- weight.

After the exhibition the work(s) that cannot be collected by the artist during the specified dates and times (TBC) must have transport arrangements agreed in writing with the exhibition organizers, and be fully paid in advance.

Posting address and storage details are being sent to all selected artists via email.

Congratulations!
